everything don't think at all*

... Not everybody is strong enough to face the symptoms

... Life is a road which you need to take... You can walk it all the way by yourself, but it will be long and heavy trip actually, mostly unfortunate one as well... You can also take the 'Bus' with 'all those' passengers, became one of them, share your things with them, learn from them... And when your time is come you will need to step out, wait a little for another 'Bus' and hit the road again, but in different direction ... And there is only one thing that could change it all for better, and that thing called 'Love'
